

Window to 2013

Given what you think will happen on the economic and social fronts globally and at home, what do you wish for yourself and your organisation in 2013? More generally, what do you wish for Singapore this year?

2013 started off on a positive note with signs showing a better year than last, despite global headwinds being very much in place. It is more of stability and contained management of long-drawn issues that gives a paradoxically positive vibe.

With a somewhat promising platform, I continue to wish for my organisation to grow organically as our business is very much dependent on the global economic outlook. And I will need to keep myself healthy in order to run with the organisation. Spending more time with my family is top of the list as well.

Above all, I wish for my nation to prosper in all fronts as we embrace multi-racial and multi-national harmony. Happy New Year!
